CodeBook User Forum 20th January 2010

You are invited to join the CodeBook User Forum to be held at the RIBA, 66 Portland Place in London on the 20th January, 2010.

We will be presenting the many new features of CodeBook Version 9, including Revit 2010, Bentley Architecture and Archicad.

There will be demonstrations showing how to use some of the key new functions.

It will be a great opportunity to network with other CodeBook users and to hear about successes and possible avenues for improvement.

In the past, user presentations have been a valuable part of the day, and we trust this will again be a feature of our meeting. For those willing to give a short presentation, the cost of the day will be waived.

Suitable topics for a presentation might be:

- to reflect on where CodeBook has taken you over the past few years on current and past projects,
- to describe a need on a project and how it was resolved,
- an interesting use for CodeBook has been...
